Birth of Junipero Serra Celebrated Sunday

BY MARIA ANTONIA FIELD

The 207th anniversary of the birth of Junipero Serra, in Petra, Spain, was fittingly celebrated at Carmel Mission, with a High Mass, by Rev. Raymond M. Mestres, who also preached a beautiful and touchingly appealing sermon, on the religious and historical significance of the day. Also the congregation had the opportunity of seeing the miniature model of the proposed sarcophagus to Serra, which may now be seen at the Mission, designed by J. Mora, noted Spanish sculptor, who worked it out from Father Mestres' idea, which was indeed a most historical and at the same time poetic conception. A pilgrimage to the cell of Serra, a few yards from the Mission, concluded the ceremony. The Carmel Mission choir, under Mr. Thomas V. Cator's direction, sang the Mass in a most creditable manner. The Mission was beautifully decorated by the loving hands of faithful parishioners.

More and more admiration and interest is centering about Carmel Mission and the wonderful work being done there by Father Mestres, the beloved pastor, whose labor and love for Carmel is one of the chief aims of his life work. Every detail of Mission tradition is known to Father Mestres, and the inspiration he gives to the celebration of each feast at the Mission is the admiration of both parishioners and tourists.

Father Mestres certainly deserves the co-operation of every sincere Carmelite, Montereyan and Californian in his work and ambition to restore Carmel Mission to its pristine magnificence.

Mission Restoration Committee Appointed

A meeting to formulate plans for definite organization and work in the interest of California Mission restoration was held last Saturday in the Art Gallery of the Hotel Del Monte, and was attended by forty persons, representing a number of so cities and commercial organizations throughout the State. T. J. Field of Monterey presided. Several speakers of prominence were listened to with interest. Among the speakers were Father Raymond Mestres, Father Sullivan, Samuel Storrow, Gilbert G. Weigel, Wm. A. Howell, Willis Polk, Miss M. A. Field, Miss Mae Bush and Miss Claribel Haydock.

The result of the meeting was that a committee of seven was appointed by Chairman Field to wait upon the bishop and archbishop, getting their consent to appear in person at a meeting to be held either in San Francisco or Los Angeles in the near future and then to formulate plans and a permanent organization.

The committee as appointed was: T. J. Field, Edward H. Brown, Samuel Storrow, W. A. Howell, Harry I. Mulerevy, Gilbert G. Weigel. The other two members, who were not present but were appointed, were James F. Hoey, Grand-President of the N. S. G. W., and John S. Davis, chairman of the California Historical Survey Commission.

Hunting Lodge on the Carmel River

Plans for the establishment of a fishing and hunting lodge at the head of the Carmel River were discussed at the recent annual meeting of the Del Monte Properties Co. The lodge is to be erected near the new San Clemente dam. This dam will create a lake about to miles in length.

It is proposed to stock this lake with fish, and as hunting is excellent in that locality the place should develop into a paradise for sportsmen. It is the intention to limit the fishing and shooting to small parties, so that the sport will always be good.

The Story of Our Portiere

BY FRANCIS BARLEY DAVIS

Written for the Pine Cone.

Our portiere's made of reeds and beads
That swings the livelong day,
With a big white stork upon it
That tries to fly away
To a lady stork across a pond
Where the water-lilies float
As the breeze disturbs the thinking strands
And rocks a little boat.
The two sweet storks and lilies fair
All come from far Japan,
But another stork arrived last night
And brought a little man.

In another corner of the strands
Beyond the cradled boat,
Beyond the storks and lilies,
Across a little moat,
Lies the fairy realm of baby-land
That smiles in colors gay—
Roses white and marigolds
And Indian paint, they say.
White storks cull the roses
And the yellow, marigolds;
Red storks choose the Indian paints,
And so on, I've been told.

One flower is all the law allows,
But oftentimes they take more,
Plucking buds in twos and threes
And, sometimes, even four And what memories these storks must have;

'Twould spell catastrophe
To leave a kinky wall-flow'r
Where a sweet white rose should be,
And 'twould make a brave squaw faint
To find a little marigold
Instead of Indian paint.

About Books

The sale in book form of Drunkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" has eclipsed that of any other play so published—with the possible exception of "Ben-Hur," on which there are no statistics available. The publishers state that in the comparatively brief period of fifteen months there have been 49,887 copies of "Lincoln" sold—this the figure to November 15. Ordinarily, a publisher is satisfied if he sells more than two thousand copies of a play in book form, and six or seven thousand is considered remarkable.

Rupert Hughes is a most versatile worker; he is not only a highly successful novelist and playwright and writer of moving picture scenarios, editor of a musical dictionary, author of books about music, but is also a composer of music. Several collections of his songs have recently been published by Schirmer; "Cain," a "vocal scena" for baritone, and "A Book of Homely Songs," five, with a dedicatory song, entitled "The Mother Tribute." And he has a collection of piano pieces soon to be published.

Vernon Kellogg, once professor of biology and entomology at Stanford and now secretary of the National Research Society, has written a fairy story for children from 5 to 50. There is nothing remarkable in that—not, at least, since Lewis Carroll, professor of mathematics, wrote of Alice in Wonderland and Alice Through the Looking Glass. But, like that book, Professor Kellogg's "Nouva, or the New Bee," may be read at any stage of life. Children may read it as they read Gulliver's Travels, for the story; and their parents may read it as they, too, read the adventures of Lemuel Gulliver—for the satire and allegory. Those who have enjoyed "Sweet Stories" will enjoy the latest work.

Roses at Christmas.

The fact that we can get flowers out of doors at Christmas time is in itself a sufficient justification for growing the Christmas rose, but besides that it is worth growing for itself, says Country Life in America. Its large white flowers, fully two inches across, resembling those of a giant single rose, although as a matter of fact it belongs to the same family as the buttercups, never fail to excite enthusiasm in the season of snow and ice. The plant itself grows only six to eight inches high, and the large, greenish-white flowers are borne in clusters and nestle closely among the dark green leaves.

Gift Books Suitable for Boys and Girls

Children's books are always an important feature of holiday time, and as gifts always popular.

Most children are great readers and too much stress cannot be laid upon the advisability of careful training in the selection of reading for the first few years.

Children of today have much to interest them and are not entirely dependent upon books, but interesting subjects can always sustain their interest and by careful suggestion a love of good literature may be stimulated. Thus they may form very distinct and helpful literary habits.

Children's books of today deal with a different type of child life than the little heroes and heroines of the Louisa Alcott, Horatio Alger and Oliver Optic which are still read with the same avid interest that our grandparents accorded them.

The Motor Boys and the Motor Girls are not more popular than the adventures of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn.

Just as much loved are the same old fairy tales of the brothers Grimm or of Anderson, the charming tales of Anatole France, The Adventures of Pinnocchio, translated from the Italian of Collodi, that beautiful story of the little "Heidi" of the Swiss Alps by Johanna Spyri, The Wonder Book, Lamb's Tales from Shakespeare, Robin Hood, all with beautiful holiday clothes waiting for a little hand to turn the pages.

Always popular are Boy Scout books and Girl Scout books, the Little Colonel Series, and the little Peppers; and deep in the hearts of children, old and young, always remain Treasure Islands, Robinson Crusoe and that splendid story, which ranks among the immortals, Castaway Island, by Carmel's brilliant and versatile author, Perry Newberry.

Art Hickman in Carmel

The other night a few "Art Hickman fans" slipped over to Herbert Hand's radio station and listened in. Art's famous jazz orchestra was playing at the California Theatre in San Francisco, but the distance didn't seem to make any difference. The wonderful "something" that distinguishes his music from all other orchestras in America was conveyed through space, until the eager listeners were filled with the same enthusiasm that characterized his audience at the theatre. A few chuckles were heard when he featured the laughing saxophone; so realistic was it, and the little audience here in Carmel could hardly refrain from joining in the applause.

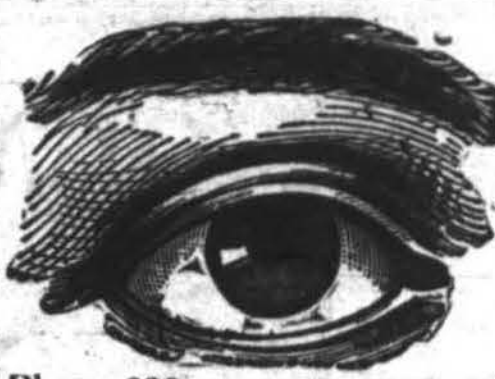

Herbert Hand's ingenuity is certainly a credit to Carmel.

Don't plaster Red Cross stamps on the face of packages or letters; take care not to "seal" parcel post packages with them. It raises the rate.

Don't forget that a little thoughtfulness on your part can help to make Christmas happier for Uncle Sam's men, his horses and his automobiles. Do mail early, preferably before December 20th, writing on your packages: "Not to be opened until Christmas."

Do your best to use the post offices in the forenoon, the earlier the better. Do write legibly, both the address to which you are sending the gift and your own return address.

Do be courteous and "Christmassy" to the post office men who serve you. They are handling thousands of pieces of mail matter.

CHRISTMAS WEEK IN ENGLAND

Time When Scattered Families Are United and Tender Memories Are Revived.

MANY and great are the changes which have occurred in England since Dickens wrote "A Christmas Carol," but they have not affected the national love for the festival and the determination to preserve unimpaired the traditional warmth and heartiness of its celebration. Christmas week is still the great week of the year for the English people. It is the one week when scattered families are reunited, when tender memories and old associations are revived, when friend greets friend with a cheery expansiveness in striking contrast with the characteristic reserve of the English nature, so, undemonstrative to those who do not know it well, apparently so distant and unsympathetic.

From Wednesday all business will be suspended, not to be resumed till Monday morning. The whole nation will give itself up to good cheer and good fellowship, and for a brief season, all strife and controversy are hushed, and peace, charity and concord reign supreme.

Observations

FROM THE

Editorial Sanctum*Mission Restoration

While much has been said and written regarding the restoration of the Spanish Missions of California, little progress has been made toward that laudable object. In normal times sufficient financial support would be received by a brief public announcement of the necessity of preserving California's landmarks from further destruction by the elements and preserving them for posterity.

Accomplishment has lagged perhaps, because of the lack of definite knowledge as to what the Missions represent, what they now are and what they will mean to the coming generations—surely more than relics.

The knowledge of the Missions possessed by archaeologists and kindred spirits is complete and the interest in their restoration is keen in certain communities, but that in itself is not sufficient to re-habilitate these monuments which represent the zeal and courage of their founders.

The Pine Cone's suggestion to the state-wide organization now being formed is that its organizing resolutions should embody a plan to give to the general public a brief and comprehensive history of the Missions, and what their restoration means to the present and future generations, and believes that this proceeding will bring a speedy response of sufficient means to consummate this much-talked of and laudable project.

Renew your subscription now, even the Pine Cone's office boy avails himself of the present $1.50 rate.

Remarks as to the so-called California "blue laws" in last week's Pine Cone had reference particularly to the Probation and Indeterminate Sentence acts. These acts, as administered at present, are in the nature of reform run amuck.

Public sentiment in Carmel in favor of "no tolls at Point Lobos" is rapidly crystalizing. A petition, with its accompanying argument, will soon be presented for consideration to the Department of the Interior, by one of our representatives in Congress.

Today is the 150th anniversary of the birth of Beethoven, master composer, and in celebration of the event a concert of the eminent one's compositions will be given in San Francisco tomorrow. Beethoven was of a generation of Germans such as we knew them before Bismarck and his "blood and iron" militarism sent those worthy people off on the wrong track.

WHY NOT BUILD?

To own one's own home should be the wish of everyone who lives in Carmel. If you own a lot here, put a house on it. If you don't own a lot, buy one now while land is cheap. If you don't live in the house yourself, there is no question about renting it. Plans and specifications submitted.

Lifelike Forms Gracefully Step Across the Floor Saying "Mamma" or "Papa."

DOLLS that walk and talk and wink and roll their eyes are Parisian Christmas novelties in toyland. These dolls seem almost human, as they walk in sprightly style across the floor saying "mamma" or "papa" just as real children would.

Walking dolls being a new invention, seem wonderful and bring screams of delight from little girls and boys, too, who watch with intense interest every step of the lifelike dolls as they are exhibited in the shops.

The machinery that moves the doll's legs is set in motion by a key that is inserted in the works at the waist line.

The voice is made active by works that are wound with a key.

The eyes move as the body sways from side to side, just as the real children's eyes roll and blink, etc.

An Appeal

To the Republicans of the Country and All Those Who Aided Them:

The Republican success in the 1920 election has been commensurate with the quality of our candidates and the righteousness of our cause.

This success is the partnership accomplishment of all Republicans everywhere and of hundreds of thousands of well-wishers of good government regardless of past party affiliations.

To all of these we now appeal, because it is the mutual responsibility of us all who will share alike in the consequent mutual benefit of good government.

The plan of limiting campaign contributions to $1,000, adopted by your national organization, has left your party unmortgaged.

It has been a most advanced step in placing the business of politics on the highest plane, and has brought an interest on the part of thousands who never before have been concerned with politics.

Some weeks before election it was apparent that the expenses provided for in our budget, with the strictest economy, would exceed the contributions, but we were unwilling either to leave undone any legitimate effort essential to complete success or to change the method of raising money. We were then sure and we are now sure that every Republican desires that the expenses of the campaign be distributed in this manner.

Your presidential campaign this year cost no more than that of 1916, when a dollar went nearly twice as far as it does today.

Four years ago the bulk of the campaign fund came from 750 contributors, while this year the approximately $2,000,000 contributed to date for the presidential election has come from 50,000 givers.

The victory won, the raising of the deficit would be easy, indeed, if your committee were willing to abandon the policy of keeping down the average of contribution. This we are determined not to do. It was a fight of all the people. The result speaks for itself. It lifted a burden from the minds of millions and points the way to better and happier days. We ask now for that additional help from all which is merited both by the successful conclusion of the effort and by the consequent contribution to the welfare of all of our people and the glory of the nation.

Let us now have help from every American who is grateful for the victory and all that it means to the country. It might well be in the nature of a thanksgiving offering for the return to a certainly safe, sane, constitutional progressive government.

Let us by general and generous giving put the seal of approval upon the policy of putting a national administration in power free from any possible embarrassment of special obligation to any man, men or group of men. Let us make the contribution, whether large or small, and whether or not we have heretofore given, commensurate with our means and our appreciation, always within the maximum limit heretofore fixed.

Let us get our names on the cornerstone of a sturdier political structure, upon the roll of those who have helped make possible the success of which, in methods and result, we may as Republicans and patriots be justly proud.

Most earnestly we urge that this aid be given quickly, that your committee may be enabled to discharge the party's obligations and turn to further constructive work in behalf of party and country.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE, Will H. Hays, Chairman.

Checks should be made payable to Fred W. Upham, Treasurer, or James G. Blaine, Jr., Eastern Treasurer, and sent to the Committee's Office, 19 West 44th Street, New York City, N. Y.

Development of Radiolife

These particles, "emanations" as they are known, are spoken of as "rays," notwithstanding that they are in reality matter or substance. They are so light that, even after long periods, the radium that is losing them cannot be seen to have lost weight. They are so numerous that, although constantly given off in vast numbers, it is estimated that it would require 2,000 years to exhaust one-half of these rays in a particle of radium, and there is no known way by which the radium can be made to cease losing them.

These emanations will accumulate in substances in which they enter, especially water, and will later give off therefrom as they are from the radium, but while the substance still contains them and is giving them off, it is said to be radioactive and possesses for the time, the valuable properties of radium itself.

The rays given off exhibit different phenomena, have different velocities, penetrate different substances for different distances and produce different effects on the which they attack. They are distinguished as alpha, beta, and gamma rays. On striking various substances in their flight the rays cause the latter to become luminous, so that watch dials to which radium is applied appear with perfect plainness to the eye in absolute darkness and remain thus luminous practically forever. The rays also produce photographs in perfect darkness and through almost any substance placed between them and the plate or paper.

Radium preparations possess the extraordinary power of bringing about chemical action, thus when dissolved or suspended in water they set free oxygen and hydrogen; they cause elements to change into their allotropic forms, and also cause the air in their vicinity to become a conductor of electricity.

Christmas for the Kiddies

Arrangements are being perfected for the Christmas eve party to be given under the auspices of the Community Club to each and every child of Carmel. The hour is set at half past six o'clock in order that the younger children may not be kept up too late, and it is hoped that everybody will be on time. The committee in charge is asking each child to bring a pillow to be placed on the floor around the fireplace for the children to sit upon while listening to a Christmas story, or a song, or some little surprises in store for them.

It has been suggested that at least one light be left burning in each home, so that the village may present a Christmas appearance. If any one has lanterns to display, they will add much to the attractiveness of the occasion.

A BELL

Had I the power To cast a bell that should from some grand tower,
At the first Christmas hour,
Outring,
And fling
A jubilant message wide,
The forged metals should be thus allied:
Not iron of pride,
But soft humility, and rich-veined hope
Cleft from a sunny slope;
And there should be White charity,
And silvery love, that knows not doubt nor fear,
To make the peal more clear;
And then to firmly fix the fine alloy,
There should be joy.

Funny Christmas Habit.

There is not a drug store, cigar shop or barroom in the larger cities which has not been made the storage room for Christmas presents bought before the rush sets in. The strange part of it is that every man who utilizes the friendship of his favorite place round the corner thinks he is the only one who thought of the plan. Realizing that the stores will be crowded, many far-sighted heads of families bought their presents a week in advance, and then, fearing the nature of the mysterious package would be discovered at the office or at home, they hit upon the device of making a cache in some resort near home.

Interesting Art News

Ralph Davidson Miller and his charming wife are preparing to join the local art colony. Mr. Davidson has recently held a most successful exhibition of his remarkable paintings at the Ebell Club in Los Angeles.

Those who have not visited the splendid exhibition of small paintings and thumb sketches at our Arts and Crafts Hall are missing a good thing. The exhibition continues until January 8. Any of the paintings will make fine Christmas gifts.

Season of Shakespeare

Berkeley has become an active center for dramatic productions by adapting Wheeler Hall for the presentation of modern plays by the Greek Theatre society of the University of California.

Heretofore productions has been limited to the season during good weather in the famous out of door Greek Theatre, and has consequently been annual.

An announcement has recently been made that Professor Samuel Hume has extended his activities, and with Irving Pischel, who has been collaborating with him in Shakespearean productions, will present a season of modern plays at fortnightly intervals, immediately after the holidays.

Each play will be given two presentations on consecutive Saturday evenings, so that the season comprises, according to present plans, twelve performances.

Oh, for the High Life

Our local moving picture "extra" people are longing for good weather again, that they may don their glad-some raiment and once again become the Monte Carlo promenaders—now greeting old friends, now sitting at the tables in joyous converse, sipping sparkling Burgundy or Moët, while the gentle gale blowing over them freezes their very marrow.

But they all acclaim it great fun,
and who would not brave pneumonia to be in the movies? It is indeed fascinating to "see ourself as others see us."

J. S. Proctor, casting director, announces that the work will go on until Christmas. Through the Pine Cone he desires to thank the people of Carmel for the help given the Universal Film Manufacturing Co.
in picturizing "Foolish Wives." Without this help it would have been necessary to engage assistance else-
